The Results I Get My Clients

My clients seek my help because they struggle with handling high-stakes conversations and negotiations, accurately reading people and situations to avoid potential threats, running their own business or taking on a C-suite role that makes them the organization's decision-makers. Some are at a crossroads in their lives and careers, some aim to take their business to the next level, and others want to ensure they hire the right people for their A-Team. I have guided clients in overcoming their fear of speaking up, courageously rebuilding broken companies, gaining the personal confidence needed to make significant life changes, and increasing their sales tenfold.

In my former career, my "why" was to stop bad people from doing bad things. With ASCENSION, my purpose is to equip people with techniques to protect themselves, their investments, and their future. I brought my human intelligence skills to the private sector to help anyone master the skills needed to make wise decisions in both personal and professional lives. There's no need to wait to master the skills to perfect human-to-human interactions. Joining ASCENSION will give you access to some of the most elite communication skill sets, helping you recognize when someone is lying to you, who to trust, and how to get the truth from anyone at any time. You will negotiate with confidence and win people's trust with ease.

I am sure you know me as the body language and interrogation expert. I have been doing this type of work for over two decades. I know I can help you read people with accuracy, whether that is trying to connect with them through rapport, best communicating and working with different personality types, obtaining the facts, or knowing who you can trust and who you shouldn't.

I also know I can help you become confident communicators by mastering your language—knowing exactly what to say and how to say it. I refer to that as the art and science of human interaction.

I have been reading people, persuading them to trust me, accurately identifying when they are lying to me, and expertly extracting the truth from them for 23+ years! This is my expertise. Let me share it with you.
